Report of Superintending School Committee for 1888-9.

The school year just passed has been marked by no startling event, but considerable quiet work has been performed. Some changes have been made and we believe them to be improvements. Public examinations of applicants for positions as teachers we believe to have been a step in the right direction, and also in fixing a standard of rank for the different schools has, we are satisfied, given us better teachers. The use of the 20 per cent. partly in equalizing the length of schools and partly in getting both furniture and apparatus, we also believe to be profitable.

It has been somewhat to the detriment of your committee, that so much school legislation is on the tapis and as yet unsettled. Whether we are to have the town system instead of the district system, or whether we have free text-books or not, will, of course, cause some hesitancy on the part of the committee in entering upon new plans or schemes for improvements.

Our schools as a whole have been fairly successful. Of course some teachers have disappointed us a bit, but others have done more than we really looked for, so the average has been more than kept up with previous years. One very encouraging sign is the increase in numbers of a high grade of home talent teachers. The more dignity we can clothe the profession of educators with, the better teachers will we get.

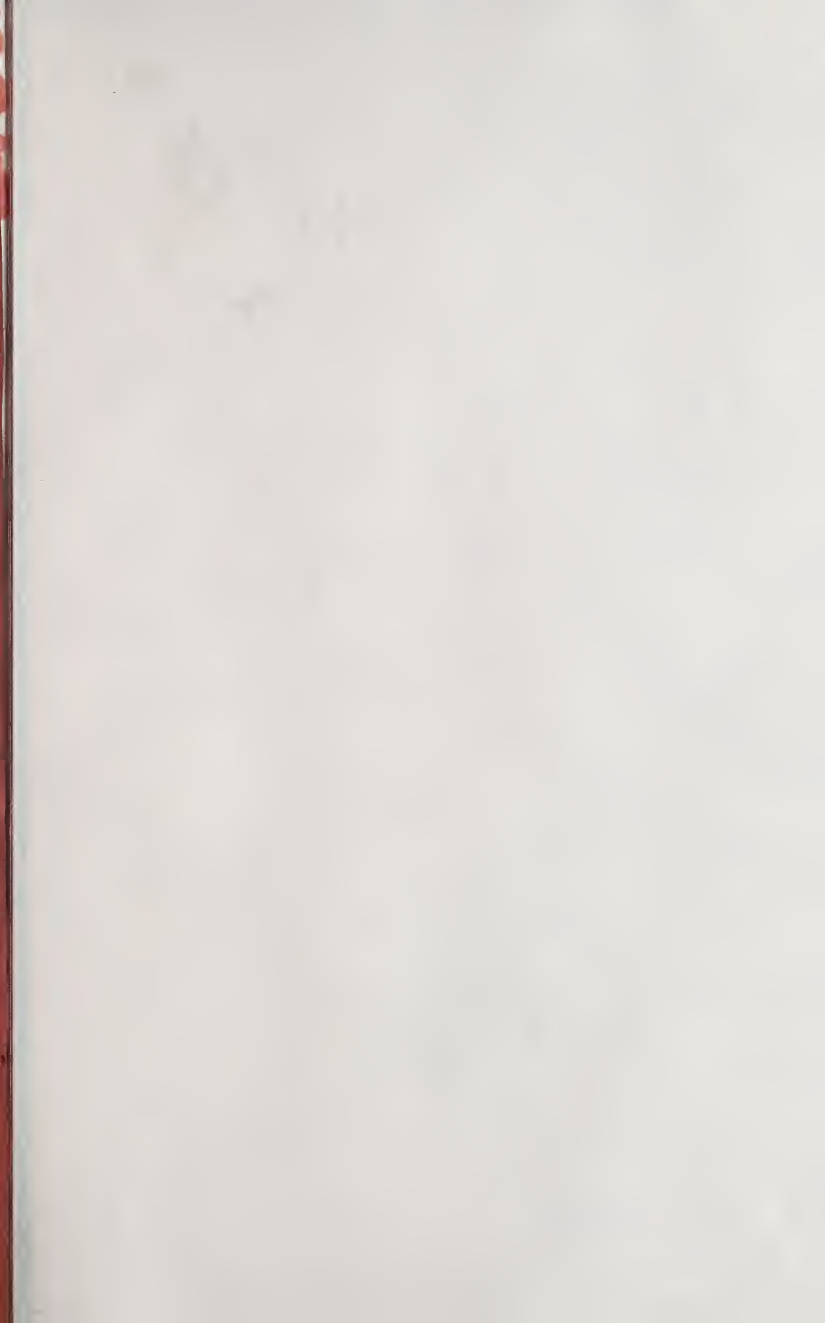

We would suggest that another year, more money be expended in wall maps, globes and the like, even if we have a week less of school in each term, for eight weeks of good, well-equipped school is worth more than ten weeks of dry, uninteresting school work. We would be lacking in appreciation if in closing, we failed to acknowledge the kindly assistance and encouragement from the town officers, as well as from parents.

H. HAMLIN, M. D., Chairman.
